Underachiever is the second single to be released from Ex Libras' incredible, critically acclaimed debut album Suite(s). It follows a natural progression from debut single Radar. Underachiever is the sound of a band mature beyond their years, certainly destined for a bigger audience.

Suite(s) was released 30th November 2009, winning the band many new fans amongst the music press. Suite(s) was recorded live in a garden shed (Ex Libras' studio and HQ). This debut effort is the combined imagination of the band, taking their initial steps into recorded sound. Suite(s) perfectly encompasses Ex Libras' melodic sensibilities, experimenting with hypnotic beats, sampling and devastatingly heavy rock blowouts that entwine harmonically haunting vocals and gorgeously intricate piano parts.

"A bold, impressive debut..."
- Clash Magazine

"It's an album that's all about building and then shattering tension."
- Rock Sound Magazine

Ex Libras are a band with creative longevity meriting exciting prospects ahead. Their musical horizons are matched by their sheer passion and soul, which is evident from every single beautifully arranged track on their album to their impressive dynamic live show where they've created something spontaneous and all encapsulating.

With more live dates planned, a video for Underachiever to be released shortly and a second album already penned for the end of the year, hopefully this second single release will be enough to keep your Ex Libras' fix satisfied.
