Rising folk-punk newcomer Fraser Morgan prepares to release his vibrant new single Fell In Love Again on 22nd November 2023.

The single is full of fun and oozes with a brilliantly chaotic energy from the offset. Fans of the likes of Frank Turner and Jamie T will feel at home here. The story stems from Fraser meeting a girl on a night out, flirting and eventually exchanging details to stay in touch. Fraser elaborates, “I started writing this silly song about how my mum’s probably sick of hearing about my love interests. One night I played it at an open mic and people went mental for it, so here we are two years later and it’s still one of my most popular songs. You’re probably wondering what happened to the girl, right? Well, I messaged her on Instagram after I finished writing the song and she never replied. She doesn’t even know the song exists”.

Fraser has already played over 900 gigs to-date where he has become known for his beautifully chaotic yet passionate live performances. Fraser and his band share humorous one-liners between songs whilst also delivering important messages of mental health within the songs themselves. Having received praise from BBC Introducing, Future Hits and Unsigned UK, Fraser is hoping to continue to captivate listeners with his infectious blend of folk-punk.

Fell In Love Again is out on 22nd November 2023.
